GRAND RALLY!

OF THE DEMOCRACY OF INDIANA!

A great Democratic Mass Meeting will be held at INDIANAPOLIS, on WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER THE 6TH.

HON. STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS, of Illinois; HON. GEORGE E. PUGH, of Ohio; HON. JOHN C. BRECKENRIDGE, and GOV. POWELL, Kentucky, and other distinguished Democrats have been invited and are expected to be in attendance. The Democracy of Indiana, are invited to participate.

By order of the Democratic State Central Committee, W. J. BROWN, Ch'n.

P. S. Democratic Editors throughout the State will please notice this call.

Marion County Ticket.

The ticket nominated by the Democratic Convention on last Saturday, will give general satisfaction. The proceedings of the Convention were conducted in a spirit of harmony and good feeling. Every township in the county was well represented, and the nominations were fairly made.

The candidates for the Legislature and County offices are reliable, trustworthy Democrats, and known throughout the county as moral and upright citizens.

Judge Blackford and Judge Corey, our candidates for the Legislature, are practical, judicious men. We know that the nomination of that learned and eminent jurist—Judge Blackford, will be a source of gratification to the people of Indiana. He accepts the position offered him. No man has conferred more honor and distinction upon Indiana than Judge Blackford, and no man in our community is more deserving a slight tribute of popular respect and regard like this. His services as a member of the Legislature, in all judicial investigations which may arise, will be invaluable. We heartily congratulate our fellow citizens upon the selection. Judge Corey is well known to the people of Marion county and enjoys the reputation of a high minded, sensible and intelligent man. He has served in the capacity of Judge of the Probate Court, and in his discharge of the important and responsible duties of that station, secured the confidence and respect of the public. The nomination was given to him without any solicitation on his part. Indeed when his name was announced as a candidate before the convention, he declined the honor; but when it was conferred upon him, he responded to the call, and accepted.

Isaac W. Hunter is our present efficient Sheriff, and is again the Democratic candidate for that office. In nominating him again, the Democratic party have conferred upon him a mark of their approbation of the manner in which he has discharged his official duties. We believe that it is admitted by those who have paid attention to his conduct as an officer, that Marion County never had a better sheriff.

Foster Whitford has never held an office in this county, and his fellow citizens have no voucher for him, but his well known character as an honest man, a good citizen—a character which he has sustained during the years he has lived among us. The knowledge of his excellent business qualifications is sufficient guarantee that if elected, he will perform the duties of Treasurer faithfully.

POWELL HOWLAND is the nominee for County Commissioner. A more competent man for that office cannot be found. In the administration of our county affairs we want a man of discretion and good sense—one, too, who is interested in the prudent and economical management of county funds. Such a man is Powell Howland. His past services bear ample testimony to that fact.

Charles Strauss is an old and esteemed citizen of this county; has served many years as Recorder, and we only say what will be endorsed by every man who ever had a deed recorded in his office, that he has been a prompt and accurate officer.

R. J. Ryan is the candidate for Prosecuting Attorney. By his perseverance and studious application, he is rapidly rising in the public estimation. He possesses fine talents as a speaker, and by his strict attention to his profession, has met with great success in obtaining practice. We commend him to the public as worthy of their votes.

Mr. Hosbrook's intimate acquaintance with the people, renders it unnecessary that we should speak of him or his qualifications for the post of Surveyor.

We and Mr. Bisbee (the latter for Coroner) were nominated by acclamation. With such a ticket as this, success is certain.

Cure for Hard Times.

The cure for "hard times," says the Philadelphia Ledger, "is in industry and economy—more judiciously applied—more small farms and fewer town lots, more reliance upon ourselves and less upon banks. If we buy and sell for cash, smaller profits or less labor will supply our wants, since we will not be compelled to support a host of broken and shavers."

Buy no more than you want, and pay for it when you get it. Don't run in debt. Don't attempt an enterprise upon credit, when you have not the basis to sustain that credit, and the means to pay your obligations promptly. We have known men who, because their "credit is good," enter into schemes and speculations recklessly, become involved, and ruin their reputation as business men.

We know there seems to be, and it's necessary for the credit system, and it cannot always be dispensed with in our ordinary dealings and intercourse, but we may avoid its evils while we realize its advantages by paying for every thing that we buy, when it is in our power to do so, by refusing to enter into engagements the fulfillment of which depends upon a mere streak of good luck. That is a ruinous disposition which withdraws the payment of just dues, or instead of paying past obligations promptly, reserves cash on hand for some future enterprise. Such a course generally results in setting a man back where he started, and often in his utter bankruptcy.

We must remember another thing—not to use "good times badly." When money is plenty and prices for labor high, then lay up for a rainy day, and take care not to invest your means in any undertaking, business or property that will perish or become comparatively valueless when hard times come about. A man may discriminate and calculate so that his all will not be in peril.

Speaking of this subject, in connection with the subject of domestic economy, it occurs to us that it is too often the case that persons are flattered by the knowledge that their credit is excellent, and are induced to make large bills—go beyond their income, and thus impose upon themselves; and in pursuing a course like that, persons often forget to consult their actual means; aye, for a long time they get along so smoothly that they believe themselves worth more than they really are, and when they wake up to a knowledge of their condition, they discover that they are in debt more than they are worth. The Ledger makes a good suggestion for the benefit of young men: "Dispense with fast horses, brandy, champagne, opera, and the thousand other means by which 'a fool and his money are soon parted.' Prefer a patch on your coat to a note in bank or a tailor's dun, and dare to be out of fashion in preference to being in debt."

Interest Information.

We gather from the Philadelphia Ledger the following interesting statistics in reference to the settlement of foreigners, their wealth, numbers, &c., to which we call attention:

The total foreign element added to our population, by immigration and descent from emigrants, from 1790 to 1850, was 4,304,416. Of these, 1,569,850 arrived in the last ten years of that period. In 1851, '52 and '53, the immigration averaged, in round numbers, four hundred thousand annually. During the last two years there has been a steady increase in the number of German immigrants, and a corresponding decrease in that of the Irish.

Nearly the whole of these immigrants settle in the free States, scarcely fifteen per cent. locating south of the Potomac. About one-third only has gone heretofore to the Lake country and the valley of the Mississippi, though this proportion is rapidly increasing. Of the Irish, three-fourths stay in New England and the Middle States, their favorite places being the great Atlantic cities, few of them becoming agriculturalists. Quite one-half of the Germans go to the West; one-third remain in Pennsylvania and New York; and the rest scatter themselves over the rest of the country, New England and the South receiving the smallest proportion. Though large numbers remain in the cities, the majority settle themselves down to farming. The English immigrants generally select the free States in the Atlantic sea-board; five-eights are to be found there, while one-third seek the lake country, very few go South.

The wealth brought into the United States by these immigrants, in solid coin, has been variously estimated, but it may be set down, without exaggeration, at several millions annually. In addition to this, millions more are earned by American ship-owners, in consequence of the immigration, in passenger and freight money. It is true that considerable sums are yearly remitted abroad, especially to Ireland; but as most of these remittances are designed to assist relatives to come here, a large part of the money eventually comes back to the United States in one way or another.

Appointments Withdrawn.

The following note was received on yesterday:

RUSHVILLE, Ia., Aug. 23, 1854.

EDITORS SENTINEL.—Please to say in the Standard that the appointment for Mr. Bright and myself, at Versailles, Manchester, Brookville, Liberty, Connerville and Cambridge, are withdrawn, owing to other and prior engagements of Mr. Bright.

We will, however, visit all of those points before the election; some of them, perhaps, that week, but I cannot now furnish the programme.

Yours truly,

JOHN L. ROBINSON.

We see that Hon. W. M. S. Holman has made appointments for speeches at various points in the third district, and invited Mr. Cumback, his opponent, to attend and discuss the issues with him. We are informed also, (we do not know whether it be true or not) that Mr. Cumback will not meet him on the stump.

Deny If You Dare.—It is asserted on good authority that the Ned Buntline Know Nothings of Indiana, are in favor of amending the Constitution of Indiana, so as to prohibit foreigners from voting, and extending the right of suffrage to negroes. If this is not true, we call for an official denial.

FRANK.—Cumback, the Know-Nothing candidate for Congress in the Fourth District, in a speech at Manchester, Dearborn County, one day last week, openly and frankly declared that he did not want the vote of any foreigner, any man who was for Nebraska, or opposed to search, seizure, confiscation, and destruction of all intoxicating drinks.

Public Speaking.

Senator Bright and John L. Robinson will speak at Connerville, September 7th; Brookville, Sept. 8th; and Liberty, Sept. 9th.

INDIAN CORN OR ROASTING CORN.—Who don't know how to cook roasting corn? but if every body does know how to cook them it is seldom we find green corn upon the table with all its good qualities preserved. It is no wonder that our negroes are so greedy for potatoe, when in nine cases out of ten, it contains all the best of the vegetables. Corn boiled in the ears should be dropped into boiling water with salt to season. Corn cut from the ear, and boiled in milk, seasoned with butter, pepper and salt, is an excellent dish. Corn cut from the cob after boiling, and mixed with butter beans, seasoned with butter, pepper and salt, makes a most capital dish. Corn oysters is a delicious dish—grate the green corn from the cob, season with salt and pepper, mix in butter, and fry in butter. Green corn pudding is a great delicacy; grate the corn from the cob, mix sweet milk and flour until the consistency of paste; season with anything the taste may dictate; and bake in a hot oven; it should bake quick.

There is no real occasion for alarm, as the following facts from the last United States Census will clearly show: In Maryland, there are about 300 Protestant churches, and only 65 Papal. Out of 152 churches in Maryland there are only 22 Papal. In Louisiana there are 223 Protestant churches, and only 55 Papal. In Texas there are 104 churches, only 15 of which are Papal; and at the present time, the Protestant church is the predominant influence in California. The census just published reveals the fact that in all the country the Papists have but 1,112 churches, accommodating 621,000 persons, which is not one-eighth of the Methodist churches; namely, one-eighth of the Baptists, and not one-fourth of the Presbyterians. The Protestant population of the United States is to the Catholic population as 12 to 1.

GOING TO THE TAILOR.—Popping his head through a tailor's shop window, in order to obtain a full view of the fair operatives, he said—

"What o'clock is it?"

Upon which the tailor lifted his lap-board and struck him a blow upon the head, exclaiming—

"It has just struck one."

Mr. Hosbrook's intimate acquaintance with the people, renders it unnecessary that we should speak of him or his qualifications for the post of Surveyor.

We and Mr. Bisbee (the latter for Coroner) were nominated by acclamation. With such a ticket as this, success is certain.

Look at the Picture in another light.

Mr. Koron:—Those who witnessed the exhibition of Winter's Chemical Diorama were perfectly astonished at the change of the same picture, when viewed in another light.—In "The Feast of Belshazzar," had this picture only been presented in one light, we should not have discovered the "hand-writing on the wall," which was a sentence of condemnation on those who profaned the consecrated vessels of the sanctuary. There is a practical lesson taught in this simple request—"look at the picture in another light." I have for some time past been convinced, that some of my Christian brethren, who have made themselves notorious in condemning others, have not looked at both sides of the picture; especially some of the clergy, who have of late, at the quarterly meetings of the Methodist Church, seemed to forget that it was a religious meeting, and not a political convention—an assembly for divine worship, and not for nominating candidates for the October election, nor passing political resolutions.

Let us look at this picture in another light. Suppose the same resolutions that have lately been published in the Western Christian Advocate, denouncing our government and our law-givers, as "traitors to religious liberty, and traitors to sectional political interests," had emanated from a public meeting of some two hundred and fifty respectable Roman Catholics, who had met solemnly for religious worship. Would not all Protestants be in a blaze at the appearance of such incendiary resolutions? And who will pretend that Roman Catholics have not the same right to do so? I fear my brethren, you have not looked at the picture in the other light. Is all the patriotism, is all the religion, is all the vital piety in our country concentrated in the Methodist Church? I most fully believe that persons who are true patriots, and as good Christians in the Presbyterian, the Episcopalian, the Baptist, and all the churches of our Lord our Master, as are in the Methodist Church. And whoever hears the great and good men of these denominations, especially the clergy, publicly denouncing the government that protects all our religious liberties? Whoever sees them enter the political arena, like gladiators or prize-fighters, anxious to take the lead in all political controversies? Whoever hears from their lips those daring, irreverent expressions, that common sinners would startle even at the thought of? Whoever hears from their lips those low cant-phrases, coined in a brothel or a taproom? How ill do these things become you, my brethren, especially you "who minister in holy things."

I have been taught, from my youth up, to respect the clergy, and I do now those who honor their high calling—who respect their profession and themselves; but those who care more for politics than religion, who make the office sanctify the priest, and not the priest the office, I have no respect for. I feel that these reverend gentlemen are just as good as common men only, when they behave themselves as well.

AN OLD-FASHIONED METHODIST.

We gather from the Philadelphia Ledger the following interesting statistics in reference to the settlement of foreigners, their wealth, numbers, &c., to which we call attention:

But the Wolverines and Hawkeyes are busters with the rifle;

Thoughtful Hunters of Kentucky are at that more than a rifle;

Not in all our broad domain, from New York to Louisiana,

There are not prouder, taller boys, than those of Indiana.

At the huskin' bees and raisings, you can see them stout and gall,

And each boy of Indiana through the grace of the hills,

On 'em Wahabu you behold them, with their loads of pots and beans,

With their little Neptune, to the port of New Orleans;

At the meetings you will find them, when the organ music goes.

With their rich sort of neckties, and the handsewn of India,

Then here for Indiana, where the men are bold and free.

And the girls are bolder by far than roses ever can be.

And here for Indianapolis, the handsewn and best,
